

Ideas and Techniques for a Perfect Cambridge Wedding

Wedding Ceremony Venues in Cambridge

If you should be buying suitable venue in Cambridge where to put on your wedding ceremony then your city's numerous historic colleges is the obvious starting point. Whilst a number of Cambridge colleges hold wedding licenses only the next ones are available to non college members: Corpus Christi, Jesus, Downing, Magdalene, Newnham and Trinity Hall. It's worth remembering that most of the Cambridge colleges are not readily available for weddings during term time. With limited vacation dates available it is most beneficial to book your wedding in Cambridge as early as possible. It is only possible to put up your wedding ceremony in one of the Cambridge college chapels if you are a college member.

Wedding Reception Venues in Cambridge

If you're considering among the Cambridge colleges for the wedding party venue then you could find the Conference Cambridge website a useful source of information. Don't be put off by the 'conference' implication - the site lists all the Cambridge colleges whose facilities are available for weddings and also guides you through the different restrictions. Most of the colleges offer beautiful historic settings, which provide a quintessentially English backdrop for your wedding. Corpus Christi College, which dates back to 1352, features a magnificent panelled hall, which gives a ceremonial setting for a grand wedding breakfast. Another suggestion will be Trinity Hall, another of Cambridge's oldest colleges, that has beautiful grounds and a riverside terrace. A few of the Cambridge colleges offer accommodation beyond term time when you have wedding guests who need to state overnight.

Themes for a Cambridge Wedding

Why not incorporate along with blue in to your wedding scheme? A 'Blue' is the definition of for a university sports award and the tradition of awarding 'Blues' began at Oxford and Cambridge. You might have blue wedding stationery, wedding flowers in various shades of blue, blue tie backs and bows on your own wedding receptions chairs, and even an orange garter! Another idea is always to name each table following a different Cambridge college or famous Cambridge alumni. Throughout the lull between your wedding ceremony and wedding party you may treat your guests to a punting trip down the 'Backs' (the idyllic and scenic backs of the colleges). A champagne picnic punt will be nicer still.

Alternative Wedding Venues in Cambridge

If among Cambridge's ancient seats of learning isn't for after this you there are a few truly stunning wedding venues in Cambridgeshire and the neighbouring county of Suffolk. In Cambridge itself you've the Hotel Felix. This contemporary country house hotel has beautiful grounds and a picturesque façade, which provides a beautiful backdrop for wedding photos. If you should be wanting to put on your wedding within an usual setting have you taken a review of Duxford Air Museum yet? Within 45 minutes drive of Cambridge you have three exceptional and wholly unique wedding venues which are worth looking at. Hengrave Hall near Bury has one of the greatest bridal suites in the united kingdom; The Rotunda at Ickworth House will ensure that your wedding photographs are unforgettable, and the Jockey Club Rooms in Newmarket give a magnificent setting at ab muscles heart of British horseracing history.

Recommended Wedding Suppliers in Cambridge

There are numerous excellent wedding suppliers in the Cambridge area - a number of which are particularly worth a mention. Firstly, perhaps you have encounter Bespoke Design? They produce the most amazing wedding stationery - brilliantly and uniquely themed for every wedding couple. They create stunning table plans and place settings, that may become treasured souvenirs. On the marriage photography front there are many to select from in Cambridge, however, we'd recommend giving Gary Rowsel, Mark Ashworth and Lightworks Photography a deeper look. Hiring the services of your own wedding dresser is now more and more popular. Linda McLaren comes highly recommended and her charges are very reasonable.

About the Author

Our final recommendation is for Biscotti di Debra regarding hertfordshire wedding photographer who give you a magical variety of continental style wedding confectionary that may wow your guests and give them plenty to talk about. They are able to also develop a Croc'embouche, a continental wedding cake made from a structure of profiteroles and Chantilly cream, which cannot fail to produce an impressive statement.