It is quite an exceptional, non-standard look of shoe, but for some years was the height of fashion for both men and women. Lately the style has come back in vogue for girls, but it has not proved a renewed hit with men. Therefore any man choosing to wear platform shoes to be able to make himself taller runs the risk of appearing unfashionable.

Elevator shoes are an entirely different type of footwear. From the exterior the elevator shoe looks like a typical shoe. Put simply, the sole doesn't appear raised. The shoes are constructed in such a way that the elevation occurs inside the shoe. The wearer's foot rests along with a raised in the only real, which can be invisible to the viewer.
