

Choosing Right Door Handles

Choosing new door handles for your doors may sound like an easy task but when you come to realise the extent of handle options you may start to think differently, for there are dozens upon dozens of choices. Here is a look at some of the most frequently asked questions and answers regarding handles. Keep in mind that whatever type you choose, quality door handles are usually worth the extra cost and will perform better and last longer than bargain hardware.

When choosing your door handles and door handles locks there are 12 things to consider. Whilst this might seem a little daunting, it isn't if you follow the steps below. The important things you will need to consider are:

1. The style
2. The front entrance & security
3. The type of handle
4. The door function
5. The door set up
6. The environment and material
7. The finish and ensuring continuity
8. The warranty
9. Care and maintenance
10. Installation
11. Door Accessories
12. Your budget

The door hardware is an extension of your home's personality, and selecting the right door handles and locks is a great way to give your home a new look. In fact, a smart front entry can increase the value of your home by up to 10%! Read more on this subject here.

As with most home improvement projects, executing a well thought out plan for upgrading door handles and other accessories will yield much better results. Door handles are generally considered as one of the essential part of the building weather it is home or your office. On the one hand they have so much practical uses and on other hand they add beauty for overall interiors of home or office. It creates a great look and feel. While selecting the colour and design of the door handle make sure it actually matches with overall interior of the room. For this purpose, matching, finishing and style is highly important. Some of the widely used handles are polished chrome, brushed nickel, Polished Brass, Satin Chrome, Florentine Bronze, Stainless steel and stainless brass. In other like wood material colour, style and pattern along with the locks, spy holes, latches, knockers, fixtures and fitting must be given properly. These are some points you should consider while choosing door handles for your home or office.

Considering these facts, you can add more beauty to your interior and exterior look of your home.

About the Author

Choosing new door handles for your doors may sound like an easy task but when you come to realise the extent of handle options you may start to think differently, for there are dozens upon dozens of choices.